Supporting life science innovation

From vaccine production to advanced cell culture.
Find the right serum for your application, with proven quality, consistency, and traceability.

Over 35 years of expertise in serum and cell culture innovation.

For over 35 years, Biowest has been a trusted partner in cell culture. Our strength lies in full control of the entire production process, from raw material to finished product.

This vertical integration ensures complete traceability, consistent quality, and transparent documentation for every batch.

Biowest offers a wide range of animal sera and cell culture reagents, available in both standard and customized formats. Our solutions are tailored to meet specific needs, with dedicated testing, filtration, depletion, and other treatment options designed for your applications.
